Japan was given another bitter taste of United States naval and air might today, losing a battle cruiser, two large cargo vessels and light war planes and suffering severe damage to its base at Lae, New Guinea.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced from his headquarters in Australia that United States naval forces had sunk a Jap cruiser of the 7,100-ton Kako class, a cargo ship of 9,000 tons and another of 6,000 tons.

The sinkings presumably were carried out by submarines since Gen. MacArthur said the enemy craft were Moscow.—The Germans defending Kharkov are "beginning to crack," the Red army newspaper Red Star said today as an official communique described the repulse of new Nazi counter-attacks with heavy enemy losses in men and equipment.

Germans Claim Many Prisoners

Berlin.—By official German wireless.—The German high command today claimed Nazi forces on the Kerch Peninsula have taken 19,942 more Russian prisoners, bringing the total for that campaign to 149,158.

A total of 284 Soviet tanks and 1,397 guns also has been captured in the Kerch fighting, the announcement claimed.
"All Soviet attacks around Kharkov have been repulsed," the high command said, adding that German troops "have now regained the initiative."
(There is no confirmation of this from any reliable source. Russian communiques indicate that the Soviet's Kharkov offensive still is moving ahead.)

The young man, who arrived a few days ago at the New York Receiving Station for further transfer, was accompanied to Bristol by First Class Seaman Robert Byers, of Evansville, Indiana.

To what part of the earth's surface he will be assigned Quigley does not know. He and Byers are hoping to be granted a furlough.

Quigley has been in the navy for 20 months; and Byers for the past four years.

STEAL SIDEWALKS

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. — (INS) — Taking the sidewalks at night may seem pretty far-fetched, but it appears to be the only satisfactory solution for at least two North Shore home owners.

A Newburyport resident reported to police that a plank walk had been stolen from her yard. Earlier the same week, the sidewalk in front of a Danvers, Mass., home had also been reported stolen.

Both robberies occurred at night.

400 Varieties of Iris
Blooming at Doylestown

DOYLESTOWN, May 22.—Over 400 varieties of iris are blooming at the site of what is believed to be Bucks County's largest and finest iris gardens, the home of Mrs. John S. Williams, Doylestown Township.

"Irisland," on the Spring Valley Road, near Pebble Hill Road, is for a few days the mecca of many flower lovers.

Grown and displayed by Mrs. Williams and Miss Diane Vallee, Doylestown Nature Club members, the iris gardens attracted scores of guests last Spring.

"Since the times are so trying and difficult any bit of beauty that our iris will provide in a comforting sort of way to flower lovers we will be glad to share with guests any time and they will always be welcome," said Miss Vallee, who explained that many guests last season drove by but missed seeing the thousands of blooms because they felt they might not be welcome to inspect them.

A Bristol motorist along with the Starkey Farms Co., is defendant in an action in trespass in the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County.

The motorist named is Joseph Ritocco and the suit was filed by the Burgess and Town Council of Morrisville. It is the result of an automobile-truck and traffic signal light post collision about two years ago. The suit is to recover $191.05.

The plaintiffs also allege that a car owned and driven by Almerindo Sozio, of Bristol, also figured in the crash.

125 Assemble for Defense
Meeting Held in Hulmeville

HULMEVILLE, May 22.—Local residents, and Jesse Cope, sub-chairman of Civilian Defense of Lansdale, addressed the 125 who assembled in the Wm. Penn Fire Co. station last evening for a defense session. Motion pictures of the "Bombing of London," scheduled to be shown, were not presented.

The presiding officer was Orville Morris, he and some other participants being local defense officials.

Members of Hulmeville Boy Scout Troop, Elwyn Hill, Jack Haas and Charles Martindell, led in the salute to the American flag. Brief remarks were made by Burgess Leon R. Conly. Sector air raid warden, H. A. Connor, made a plea for more air raid wardens, the need being due to several wardens being engaged in night work.

Mr. Morris outlined the extent of Hulmeville's defense effort. He mentioned that there are 26 auxiliary policemen, and approximately the same number of air raid wardens; a motor corps is being formed with several already completing a course; at least 100 have graduated from first aid courses, two first aid stations have been established, fully equipped; food bank established with approximately 1,000 cans of food stored. He also mentioned that a clothing bank is now being arranged. Mr. Morris urged that anyone who can, sign as air raid wardens or emergency policemen.

Another speaker was Richard A. Hopkins, who asked that a lackadaisical attitude on the part of the populace be avoided. He urged that all keep on the alert; and asked that in time of an emergency telephones not be used. All were requested to keep away from telephones for at least an hour after any alarm, unless it is absolutely necessary to use such.

Jesse Cope, of Lansdale, touched on the airplane spotter service, mentioning that the job is being well done under jurisdiction of the American Legion with aid of volunteers; and considered various phases of progress of the war.

One Man's Opinion
By WALTER KIERNAN
(I. N. S. Staff Writer)

The gas and oil shortage on the East Coast is going to be investigated.

If it is found to have good character something may be done about it.

Something could be done about it right now.

It carloads of sugar can be shipped East and turned back so as not to disturb rationing, presumably the same rails will carry oil cars.

So it takes 200 cars to carry as much oil as one tanker?

So what, if we've got the cars and the engines to pull them and the rails to run them on?

And we have.

So it would be more expensive? You mean the Government couldn't fix the transportation rate in an emergency?

Are you kidding?

Thought for the day: Let's have some action, fellers.

TOTAL WAR AND MANPOWER

The impact of total war on American civilian life will reveal itself on a colossal scale within the next six months. In that short period, the United States faces the biggest task of occupational change in its history.

The fact that 12,000,000 men must be moved from their present positions to the armed forces or to war production jobs before the end of 1942, as outlined by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, is apparent from statistics regarding the manpower requirements of the combatant services and war production in the current year.

General Hershey said the number of men in the armed forces must be doubled by the end of this year and that the number of men who were working in war production on January 1 last year must be tripled before the end of 1942. At present there is no direct legislation for transferring men from non-essential jobs to war jobs, but legal sanction for such action may be expected if a shortage in defense labor develops.

That the government prefers that men act voluntarily in acquiring positions where they can aid the war effort to the greatest degree may be inferred from General Hershey's remarks. General Hershey released a number of obvious hints regarding what is expected of men and management in the immediate future.

Asserting that men with dependent will not be called for military duty before 1943 he added that a majority of these will not be called then "if they will search their souls and fit themselves into the pattern of a useful citizens having a vital part in the war effort."

Management was advised by General Hershey to begin now the replacement of "priceless youth" with older men and women in order that the young men may be taken into the armed services. Persons capable of doing more or better work in some other job must be upgraded, he asserted.

Concerning 1943, General Hershey said he could not even predict what the needs of essential industry will be by that time. As the effect of total war becomes more and more apparent, the determination of Americans to see it through to final victory at the earliest possible period unquestionably will increase.

Not only do Americans abhor the thought of defeat with its inevitable slavery, but they do not wish to live in a world in which there would be recurring wars of this type. Nothing save a clear-cut victory by the United Nations can assure the prevention of similar wars in the future.

FRONY IN VICHY

The Vichy government of France celebrated Joan of Arc Day. It is a holiday set aside to honor the Maid of Orleans who in the fifteenth century fought to rid France of the invading English and establish Charles VII. as the rightful ruler of France.

Joan of Arc was inspired to her deeds by visions in which she believed she heard the voice of God telling her to fight the invaders of her country and to support the king.

It is ironic that a holiday dedicated to Saint Joan should be celebrated by a French government which has turned its back on her ideals and is now busily engaged in collaborating with the Nazi invaders of her country.

Freezing of retail prices of 30,000 items hardly makes this the spring of the big thaw.

Mr. Warner, in his talk, mentioned that the Elks lodge is founded on American principles; and that members not in service can serve their country best by doing defense work and buying defense bonds.

A wrist watch, a gift to the retiring exalter ruler, William Wischer, was accepted on his behalf by his father, Councilman John H. Wischer. Presentation was made for the lodge by Burgess Clifford L. Anderson. Mr. Wischer was unable to be present.

Combination Ambulance and Hearse Released to R. C. Ruehl

The War Production Board of Washington, D. C., has released to Robert C. Ruehl, a luxurious combination ambulance and hearse, probably the last to be obtained for the duration of the war, as all motorized units are rigidly rationed by the board.

The above mentioned vehicle, while termed a hearse, may on a moment's notice be converted into an ambulance in which the patient may be carried with the least possible discomfort, on a couch which is part of the equipment.

This service has been added with the thought in mind that if the emergency should arise, brought about by the present unfortunate state of international affairs, it may be of help in connection with the very necessary work of caring for those who may suffer as the results of ruthless acts committed by the agents of destruction of the warring nations.

U. S. Naval Forces Sink Jap Cruiser and Cargo Ship

sent to the bottom by "under water action." The area in which the sinkings took place was not announced.

The naval victory was the first to be announced by the United Nations Supreme Commander in Australia since he disclosed the defeat of the Japanese fleet in the Coral Sea when the enemy lost 21 ships either sunk or damaged. Two Jap submarines were sent to the bottom in a subsequent action.

The Japs were taken completely by surprise when United Nations pilots heavily raided their base at Lae. The American and Australian pilots swooped down upon the Japs through low-hanging clouds and blinding heavy rains which kept the enemy on the ground.

They plastered the airdrome at Lae virtually without opposition, smashing eight Japanese planes and leaving the runways with gaping craters.

Two Jap bombers and one fighter were blasted on the ground. Three other fighters were shot out of the air. Heavy losses in men and equipment were inflicted on the Germans desperately attempting to defend the Ukraine city of Kharkov. The Soviet Nazi high command said. Two strong Nazi counter-attacks were beaten off as the Soviet armies continued a progressive march on the city.

On one sector, the noon communique said, 370 German soldiers were slain while on another 200 were killed. Much war booty was captured and large numbers of tanks and other equipment destroyed, according to the Russians.

A hint that Soviet troops on the Kerch Peninsula may be starting a strong counter-action against the Germans was seen in the latest communique which reported fighting on "the eastern half of the peninsula." Recent communiques confined themselves to announcement of Russian resistance "in the area of the town of Kerch," which is at the extreme eastern tip of the Peninsula.

It was recalled that the newspaper Pravda said yesterday that "greater" battles were to be expected on the Peninsula.

Mexico was on the verge of war with the Axis. Her Foreign Minister announced that Germany, Italy and Japan had rebuffed Mexico's protest against the sinking of a Mexican tanker and President Manuel Avila Camacho prepared to go before Congress to ask for a declaration of war.

Renewed reports of unrest in Axis occupied countries in Europe were received in London today with further indications of Nazi fears of a United Nations invasion.

Premier General Jan Christian Smuts of South Africa declared that the British occupation of the French Indian Ocean island of Madagascar has "removed all likelihood of a Japanese frontal attack on South Africa."

Chinese forces continued to hold Jap forces in the Burma-Yunnan Province Region in check but the Japanese continued to increase their threat to free China by advances in the coastal province of Chekiang.

(By International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 22—In a new series of slashing naval and air attacks, the United Nations' forces under command of General Douglas MacArthur have accounted for a Japanese cruiser and two cargo vessels as well as eight enemy war planes, a compilation disclosed today. Concrete news of new American naval successes brought cheer to Australia and was headlined in all newspapers. An official communique revealed that submarines operating under direction of Vice-Admiral Herbert F. Leary had sunk a 7,100-ton cruiser of the Koko class and two freighters, one displacing 9,000 tons and the other 6,000.

The news was the best received since official communiques disclosed a major American victory in the battle of the Coral Sea.

MacArthur's communique was the first revelation that United States submarines definitely are carrying out operations in this Southwestern Pacific area. This statement said that all three vessels were sent to the bottom by "under-water action."

The Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged in raids on Lae and Kupang in which military installations also were blasted. United Nations losses were nil as the Japanese, for the first time in a number of days, failed to retaliate.

The Jap cruiser sent to the bottom was equipped with six eight-inch guns. She was one of four ships in the Koko class and carried in addition to her larger guns 12 torpedo tubes and four 4.7-inch anti-aircraft guns. The Koko carried a normal complement of 604 officers and men.

Launched in 1925 and 1926, the Koko class ships were refitted with special bulges in 1938 and 1939 as an added protection against torpedoes. Besides the Koko itself, other vessels in that class are the Aoba, the Kinugasa and the Hurutaka.

Further details on Wednesday's United Nations raid on the Jap-held base of Kupang, Dutch Timor, revealed that three Japanese aircraft were destroyed and three others damaged.

An estimate of Japanese losses during the past four and a half months in the New Guinea area alone placed the number of aircraft destroyed at 130 while 200 others were reported damaged. Enemy shipping losses were estimated to include one aircraft carrier destroyed, another probably destroyed, one seaplane carrier damaged and eight cruisers, six destroyers, 14 gunboats and 32 other vessels, including 21 transports, sunk or damaged.

Nothing makes a selective service man in camp happier than a letter from home or a home-town newspaper in the daily mail, army officials said recently after an extensive survey.

Next in order, the selective service youth likes sweets such as candy, cookies and chocolates—and chewing gum!

Officers say that on the march the gum helps keep the boys from drinking too much water and from dipping into their lunch ration.

Other offerings which bring a smile of pleasure to the enrollee include a general repertoire of utilities among which are books of stamps, flashlights, a towel now and then, toilet articles, and reading materials.

Officers say that if relatives want to be sure their addressee gets what's mailed to him, they should address the letter or package in this way: Name first, his company or battery second, his regiment third, and, lastly the name of the post office.

REPUBLIC P-47

Subsented above by the Aviation News Committee is the Republic P-47, often known as the "Thunderbolt," the most powerful single-engine pursuit plane yet built by any nation, and possessed of stupendous fire-power. This top-notch high altitude fighter is powered with a 2000 horsepower Pratt & Whitney aircooled engine which is "boosted" by the installation of an exhaust gas-driven turbo supercharger, so that it is good for actual fighting at high altitudes. It has been called by army officials "one of the finest of its kind in the world." Structural details, fire-power and performance figures are still carefully guarded army secrets.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Take Betty Grable's blonde loveliness, Vic Mature's appeal, Jack Oakie's inimitable brand of humor and set them in Technicolor against a background of South Sea romance and heaps of tip-top music, and you have to be found in 20th Century-Fox's kind of grand screen entertainment "Song of the Islands," which opened at the Grand Theatre yesterday for an indefinite stay.

Assisting in the romantic doings are such stalwarts as Thomas Mitchell tangling cinematically with George Barbier; Billy Gilbert, in the hilarious role of an erstwhile cannibal; Hilo Hattie, major exponent of Hula "jive;" and Harry Owens and His Royal Hawaiians, ace interpreters of Island music.

BRISTOL THEATRE

When an actor undertakes to star in a Preston Sturges picture he has to be prepared to take plenty of hard knocks for the sake of comedy.

The latest to find that out is Joel McCrea, co-star with Veronica Lake, in "Sullivan's Travels," the new comedy written and directed by Preston Sturges, which opens today at the Bristol Theatre.

Bucks Jones, Tim McCoy and Raymond Hatton, three of the most famous names in Hollywood, are back together again as the daring "Rough Riders" in "Ghost Town Law," currently being shown at the Bristol.

The first "Skylark" appeared as a serial in the Saturday Evening Post under the title, "The Streamlined Heart," in 1939. Then Samson Raphaelson, the author of the original story, turned it into a three-act play, "Skylark," which starred the famous stage comedienne, Gertrude Lawrence.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)

Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

We thank Thee, O God, our Father, for the Eternal Light which is ours through Christ, thy Son. We thank thee that through all the periods of darkness in the history of the world that Light has not gone out. Although at times the vision of the Light may have been dimmed, the Light itself has never been extinguished. Grant, O Father, that we might hold high the Light, that it might become a Beacon in the stormy world—beckoning all who see to safety and to Life. Through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

KNOW YOUR STATE

OUR OCCUPATIONS

The occupation of every American is today a matter of national importance. There is no time now for driving square pegs into round holes. The pegs and the holes must fit. Manpower in industry, just as much as on the battlefield, is a national resource which, above all others, has to be conserved. This fact is fully realized by those who have filled out questionnaires under the Selective Service Act, as well as by those who are applying for positions in war industries.

The following analysis of U. S. Census data on employment made by the State Planning Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce gives a few outstanding facts as to Pennsylvania's peacetime labor resources which are at this hour being transformed into wartime labor resources through the greatest mass changes of occupation ever witnessed in our country's history.

What is this reservoir of occupations from which we must now draw the manpower for a total industrial war?

Nearly five million skilled male workers (craftsmen, foremen and kindred workers) were employed in the United States during the last week of March, 1940, and half of these were located in eight states, namely: Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. From this class of workers come the occupations most immediately useful for the war production program. In this group were 418,176 Pennsylvanians.

In these eight states were also located nearly half of the employed professional workers in the Nation, a group which includes technical engineers, chemists, physicians, dentists, trained nurses, etc., who are also in great demand in the war effort. Of this professional group, 205,026 were located in Pennsylvania.

In 1940, Pennsylvanians numbering 657,437 were employed as operators, attendants or helpers in connection with motor cars and trucks, store deliveries, stationary engines, street cars, mines, etc. Of these, 184,418 were employed as mine operatives and laborers and 108,212 as chauffeurs, truck drivers and delivery men. Nearly 100,000 in all this operator group were unemployed at that time, so that Pennsylvania had then available more than 750,000 persons trained in the operation or maintenance of various forms of motor equipment or engines. This class like that of skilled machine workers, can be rapidly adapted to present day needs.

Women numbering 231,962 were employed as clerical workers, salespersons and kindred workers, which included 69,226 stenographers, typists and secretaries and 62,884 saleswomen. An additional 21,571, or more, seeking work at these occupations in March, 1940, add to the total of our resources of women clerical workers who will be called on to assume a large place in maintaining our machinery of distribution, as well as to provide a reserve of industrial workers. To this group should be added the 120,226 women employed in the manufacturing industries and the additional 20,263 seeking work in these industries in 1940, all of whom may be employed in plants manufacturing textiles or other products for the armed force.

Other occupations in 1940 in Pennsylvania included 10,144 employed clergymen, 8,169 male and 138 female lawyers and judges and 12,218 male and 682 female physicians and surgeons. Trained and student nurses numbered 575 male and 27,549 female. A male group having a very small proportion unemployed was farmers and farm managers which totaled 109,950 persons employed with only 1,009 seeking work. Among the female farmers and farm managers, there were 2,575 employed and but 12 seeking work.

The 1940 labor force of Pennsylvania totaled nearly 3,750,000 persons engaged in hundreds of occupations. Today in the midst of our war effort, the number of the State's workers will doubtless greatly increase, but the immediate need is for every man or woman in the Commonwealth to find that occupation in which his training and experience enable him to do his utmost to ensure for our nation a swift and decisive victory.

I WAS CAUGHT WITH MY PAINTS DOWN!

when uncle Leon Henderson placed a price ceiling on all commodities. He got me right where it hurts. I had bought my stock of "French-Wolf" Paints last October, when prices were comparatively low, and have been maintaining a correspondingly low price on all paint products. Naturally, now that wholesale prices have increased considerably, it would be just good business to raise my prices to conform. But Uncle Leon says: "Sorry, no can do - - - must maintain same price as in March." So here I am selling one of the country's finest paints way below the market price, and can't do a thing about it, either.

BENSALEM JUNIOR AT TEMPLE IS ONE OF THE BRIGHT LIGHTS ON UNIVERSITY'S TRACK TEAM

PHILADELPHIA, May 22 (Special).—One of the few bright lights on Temple University's 1942 track team has been Norman Tettmer, a junior, from Bensalem.

Tettmer has scored consistently in the quarter-mile run, taking first places against competitors representing New York University, I. C. 4-A outdoor champion, Penn State, indoor champion of the same organization, and Bucknell.

The blond speedster, the best of last year's sophomore crop, has hovered about the 50 second mark for the 440-yard distance, a time he hopes to improve before the curtain falls on the present campaign.

Tettmer, a product of Bensalem High, has been invaluable to Temple's quarter-mile relay team and was particularly responsible for the Owls' fine showing at the Penn Relays when they took a second place to Wayne University, in the fastest heat for the mile distance during the carnival.

Tettmer will compete in the 440 in the I. C. 4-A championships at Randall's Island, the end of May. He will also run on the Templars' mile relay unit.

VOLTZ-TEXACO TEAM DEFEATS ST. ANN'S NINE

After losing five straight games, the Voltz-Texaco team finally broke into the win column, defeating St. Ann's A. A., 3-1, last evening on the latter's field. It also marked the third straight setback for the Saints.

Both managers, Tony Angelo, St. Ann's, and George Dougherty, Voltz, shook up their lineups before the tilt. It aided both teams in their playing as only two errors were committed during the tilt. St. Ann's had practically an entire new infield.

The game would have been much closer if "Bill" Patrick, St. Ann's twirler, had not been so wild and too generous with his passes. In the five innings he pitched, Bill passed no fewer than nine batters and this kept him in trouble continually. But he managed to pull through somehow or other without a huge pile of runs being scored.

"Loggie" Bragg did the slab work for the gasoliers and succeeded in holding St. Ann's to a quartet of safe hits. He also was in hot water on several occasions and only an error by Dougherty and a two-lagger by Fred Barbetta gave the Saints their only marker.

BRISTOL AND BENSALEM NINES TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON IN BATTLE FOR LOWER LOOP TITLE

One of the biggest schoolboy games of the season will take place on the Bristol field this afternoon when Bensalem meets the league leading Bristol nine in a game that may sew up the lower division loop title.

The Owls are one game behind the Bunnies and a win today will tie them for the top. This is the final fray of the year for both squads and the most crucial one of the campaign. The homesters hold a one run decision over the Bensalemites gained earlier in the season. A win by the same Bristol club this afternoon will clinch the diadem and give them the right to challenge the upper division kings in a three game series for the district championship.

Jim Roberts, of Bensalem, and Bristol's Jimmy Hopkins, who both took a back seat to Langhorne's Kenny Clark in the past two frays, will probably hook up in a hurler's duel. The batters, however, have held the upper hand in school ranks this season and may duplicate their actions again.

The Great Game of Politics

Admiral Land and no plan to supplant him with anyone. The appointment of Mr. Lewis W. Douglas as deputy administrator is important, timely and good. But everybody concedes that Mr. Land has done a great job and no one better equipped to take his place has been suggested. In the more building of ships, he will exceed the 8,000,000 tons scheduled for this year and probably reach 15,000,000 next, which will be ahead of the President's most optimistic forecasts for both years.

BUT JUST BUILDING the ships is not enough. They have got to be adequately protected and efficiently operated. Protection is a matter of airships, destroyers, corvettes, convoys. The right kind of protection has not yet been achieved. One reason has been lack of co-operation and understanding between army and navy. Another has been the strain imposed on the navy in conveying cargo ships and transports for long distances in both oceans. And there are others. The basis for better co-operation between the armed services has now been established and certain other plans made which should diminish the sinkings. However, until these have been proved effective, it would be better if Secretary Knox would issue no more statements to the general effect that the submarine menace has been mastered — or, in fact, any statements.

AS TO OPERATIONS, it is agreed by most of those in position to judge that our merchant marine has not been—and is not now—well operated. The chief operating problems are in routing ships, allocating cargoes, and arranging for protection—all functions wholly distinct from the building of ships, yet just as vital. Clearly, if operational efficiency over 1909 vessels could be improved twenty per cent, it would be equivalent to 200 new ships. There is room for that percentage of improvement. And, if that degree of improvement is combined with better army-navy understanding, adequate steel plate supply (now said to be assured) and less loading of labor in the shipyards, while there will never be enough ships, the lack will be far less critical than it is today.

TO A VERY large extent it is all a question of men. Admiral Land is the right man in the right place, but he needs better men on the operating end and in other departments. And, it would help if in army and navy the best possible talent for dealing with the protection problems were drafted. Also, it would help if priorities were administered more skillfully and with a firmer hand. It is, of course, easy to point out the need of better men, but it is anything but easy to get them. There is an unquestioned scarcity of first-class men here in Washington, which is why the few really good ones stand out like a lighthouse in a fog.

THIS PREGNANT FACT deepens regret at the continued disinclination of the President to bring into the war-production machine the available first-class men on the outside whom he does not personally like. That is a weakness which, in the national interests, he should overcome. It is not paralleled in England. There, no outstanding and available man of ability and experience, no matter how hostile he may have been politically or personally to the head of the state, is outside the Government. Unfortunately, there are many such here.
